Who are you going to work with

M&C Saatchi World Services, a specialist social and behaviour change division within the global communications agency M&C Saatchi is currently recruiting one PhD intern to join our global Research & Insight Team. The successful candidate will support all aspects of our research work, from assignment to delivery of final strategy.

How do you expect to spend your day

Interns will work with the Research & Insight Team within M&C Saatchi World Services which provides decision-makers in the international development sector with cutting edge primary research, monitoring and evaluation combined with digital and social media data gathering and analytics, research communications and local capacity building. They work with UNICEF, the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation, the Global Fund, Girl Effect, the Children's Investment Fund Foundation, USAID, and the World Food Programme among others. They address a range of issues, including birth registration, climate change, adolescent girl empowerment, nutrition, and polio. They are currently working in Ethiopia, Malawi and South Sudan in addition to a series of multi country studies.

The ideal intern's personality and qualifications

Ideal candidates will have the following:

- Knowledge of qualitative and quantitative primary research approaches;
- Data analysis skills;
- Experience of working on primary research studies from research design, research implementation, data analysis, reporting and final presentation of results;
- Experience of research on international and development issues;
- Knowledge of human rights, gender, health and governance issues in developing countries is a distinct advantage.
- Belief in the potential of communications and media to contribute to social change.

What are the benefits of Interning at this project

This is a paid internship and will last for a minimum of 20 days, either consecutively or over a longer period, as needed. Additional funding to cover travel expenses may be available on a negotiable basis. M&C Saatchi is the world's largest independent communications network, with 31 global centres of excellence, and partner offices worldwide.
